The Farmer Grows a Rainbow: Nutrition Education Workshop

North Carolina Ag in the Classroom is pleased to offer this inaugural workshop for PK-12th grade educators. This training is designed to meet the needs of 21st Century learners as relates to physical well-being, academic success and an appropriate appreciation for the source of our food. The 3-day event offers best practices in health education which align with NC Standard Course of Study. Activities include classroom sessions, field experiences and numerous educational resources. Participants completing the workshop will receive two continuing education units.
